Dear Define Families,

Night: defined. From Dusk to Dawn: Recital 2026. Year eleven of de•fine. The sun has set on a decade, and here we are—still dancing, still finding something real in the dark. This year, we turned our eyes to the sky and asked: what lives in the space after the golden hour fades and the world goes quiet?

It turns out, everything does. There's a kind of magic that only happens in the deep of night—when the noise falls away and all that's left is what's true. Some of our most important moments don't happen in the spotlight. They happen in the stillness. In the late rehearsal when something finally clicks. In the hallway conversation that turns into a friendship. In the moment a dancer who once doubted themselves walks into the studio like they belong there—because they do. De•fine grows in the in-between – in the quiet stretch between class and stage, between doubt and confidence, between who a dancer was and who they're becoming.

We're proud of every dancer who showed up this season—on the hard days and the easy ones, through the frustrations and the breakthroughs. And we're grateful for every parent who trusted us with your kids, and every teacher who pours their heart into this place week after week.

Today, we move through the sky together—from the warmth of golden hour into the deepest, most beautiful part of the night. Every piece you'll see is a moment in that journey. Every dancer on this stage has lived it.

Year twelve is coming, and with it—the dawn. But tonight, we sit with the stars.

Thank you for being our people. For showing up in the dark right along with us.

With gratitude, Megan, Raven, Beth, & Vanessa
